A description of the steps the program has taken to decrease the use of restraint and involuntary seclusion.	It is our priority to ensure that any use of physical intervention is appropriate and necessary. This begins with training all staff to understand that "restraint," which at the Nest is therapeutic and calm holding, is always a last resort to be utilized only when other interventions have been unsuccessful, or when someone is in immediate danger. In addition to annual Nonviolent Crisis Intervention training, the Nest program also employs two CPI-certified trainers to provide ongoing coaching and support. The program also complies with all applicable oversight and reporting requirements. The Nest Program Director reviews all incidents involving holds; Staff debrief all holds within 48 hours; The program conducts physical restraint reviews when a restraint is used more than twice in a 7-day period; The program submits IR information to DHS and other required parties on an ongoing basis; and BGA submits monthly IR data to ODHS for review.
Number of incidents in which an individual who placed a child in care in a restraint or involuntary seclusion was not certified or trained in the use of the type of restraint or involuntary seclusion used, including individuals whose certification or training was expired at the time of the restraint or seclusion.	0
